A MILITARY COMPANY REFUSES TO CARRY THE NATIONAL FLAG AT THE CAPITAL.

A military company from Norfolk, Va., appeared at the Capital last week on a visit and were met at the depot by a military company of Washington. Theyparaded the streets of Washington, arrayed in Confederate gray, without carrying the stars and stripes. This act very justly created great indignation among the Union people, and particularly among the old veterans of the Union army. The dispatches imform us that the Grand Army of the Republic met and passed resolutions, very strongly condemning the action of the in Congress, with two er three honor-Confederate military. We suppose the able exceptions, are fairly enrolled on the Confederate roster. Some belonged Grand Army of the Republic were indignant because they showed the affront to the stars and stripes at the Capital of the nation. We Republicans down south have got used to the thing. It has been going on for many years, and in some instances the Confederate flag is carried in the procession. We advise the Grand Army of the Republic at Washington to post themselves about affairs in the couth and we mistake not better things of Messrs. Weaver and of they do not get sufficient information De La Matyr, but when men get to going bad, there is little hope of checkto pass resolutions every twenty minutes in the day for the next twenty years, similar to or stronger than those passed, above referred to.

THE COLORED EMIGRATION

There is no doubt but the colored emigration westward threatens to be a serious question to the south. How jeet him to the judgment of a confar and how rapidly it may proceed it stituency that has been cruelly betrayis not possible at present to predict. is not possible at present to predict, nor is there any very settled opinion as to the causes of the movement. It is spoken of among small minded politicians in the south as the work of emmissaries in the interest of northern Republicans. This idea is very shallow, not to say silly, for there is no evidence of any organization about the movement at all. It seems that the very is to be "unrespited, unpitied, and unreprieved." Greenbackism has digged persons who start from their homes on its own grave in this surrender to the wards some place of which they have very little information. They report to nobody, and are managed by no agents. There seems to be a spontas niety about the migration as remarkable as is its suddenness and extent. It bears none of the ear-marks of a scheme,

It is true that now that it is started a society, or societies, have been organ. ized with a view of regulating the movement, and ministering to the welfare of the new emigrants. These societies' seem to be on a plan similar to the "Kansas Emigrant Aid Society." of several years ago, whose object was 'rather to guide and control an emigration which promised to be inevitable than to stimulate the emigration itself. It is said too that certain railroads in the territories and in the western and Pacific states have been or are taking steps to secure negro labor in place of Chinese. It is even said that Mr Huntington, President of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which starts from San Francisco and has now approached within about one hundred miles of Tucson in Arizona, and is aiming at El Paso, is desirous of attracting colored labor along the line of his great highway. There may have been other inducements held out in that vast region west of the Mississippi. But no agents seem to have been operating in the south excepting vagrant ticket sellers for the

And yet the movement goes on and is increasing. It is stated that Senator Jonas of Louisiana asserts that 3,000 have left that state already. Probably an equal or greater number have left Mississippi and Tennessee. If the tide continues to increase it will not be long before the labor system of the south will be seriously impaired in certain localities. The loss of 100,000 laborers from the south would be nearly as great a calamity as if a conflagration had laid in ashes Charleston or Savannah or

THE BRUNSWICK FRAUDS.

We learn that the conduct of the individuals of Brunswick county, who took and are now holding the offices of Clerk, Sheriff, Register of Deeds, and Treasurer, after the Supreme Court had expressly, though collaterally, declared they were not elected, was dictated less by choice than by necessity. Like the wife of the Patriarch who demanded of her husband children or else she would die, these gentry must have office or else they would perish. They were born with lusty appetites, and the customs of society forbade them to go naked. They must be fed and clothed. Though the necessity of their existence may be doubted, yet as long as they live the demands of belly and back begging produced small returns, so they date. - National Republican. set up, on the slender capital of their wits, a shop for the reception and disposal of stolen goods.

We shall say something about the probability of their success in their new trade, in our next.

The Greenback Surrender. We publish the following from the National Republican.

"The Nationals, or Greenbackers, as they are pleased alternately to call they are pleased alternately to call themselves, delivered the goods on Saturday, and now everything is serene. This is as we expected. The laws of gravitation have wrought their legitimate mission and landed these patriets where they belong. When a Republican loses hold upon his political faith and virtue and begins to delly with strange political gods he inevitably abandons himself to the deepest political prostitution upon the first favorthere from the first, but the balance, who surrendered, most cheerfully prostituted themselves to the uses and purposes of the Confederates for less money than Judas Iscariot got for the betrayal of his Master. It is well that this masquerading under the pretense of Republicanism on all national questions not purely financial should come to an end thus early, for hereafter if anybody is deceived and cheated it will be the Confederates. We had hoped ing their course until they have run their race. We may now expect that De La Matyr will out Herod Herod in his devotion to the worst phases and plots and Bourbonism, under the directing finger of Senator McDonald and the conservative counsels of Senator Voorhees. The desertion of Re-publicanism by Mr. Weaver will subaccountability. No Iowa Republican can throw himself into the arms of the Confederacy in this crisis without paying a penalty that no statesman who desires a future can afford. However, the sale and delivery have been accomplished, and now we leave these recreants to principle to occupy the bods they have deliberately prepared for themselves. The fate of the apostate grave, wherever found, preaches short and pithy sermon."

It is due, to our own immediate Representative, Hon. Daniel L. Russell, to say, that he was not present to vote on the important questions, being detained at home on imperative business, in Brunswick county court. He was paired with Mr. Bland, of Missouri.

Senatorial Labors

During the Forty fifth Congress 1852 bills were introduced in the Benate .-The following shows the number introduced by each Senator, viz: Ingalls, 87, Mitchell, 83; Dorsey, 78; Plumb, 69; Cockrell, 53; Spencer, 51; Vorhees, 43; Burnside, 38; Eaton and Paddock, 37 each; Sargent, 35; Beck and Merrimon, 34 each; Maxey, 33; Edmunds, Harris, Howe, Kernan, McDonald and Morgan, 32; Cameron, of Wisconsin, Hereford and Wallace, 31; Kirkwood, 30; Dawes, Matthews and Whyte, 29; Booth and Windom, 27; Allison and Rollins, 26; Garland 25; Bailey, Ferry and Kellogg, 24; Conover, 23; Chaffee and Davis, of Ill., 22: Hamlin, 21; Bruce, Christian-cy, Jones, of Fla., and Withers, 20; Hoar, Morrill and Teller, 19; Anthony, Cameron, of Penn., Gordon, McMillan, Ogiesby and Saunders, 17; Grover, Johnston and Wadleigh, 16; Bayard, Eustis and McPherson, 15; Barnum, Butler and McCreery, 12; Thurman 11; Coke, 10; Dennis, 9; Armstrong, Jones, of Nev., and Patterson, 7; Blaine, Davis, of W. Va., and Hill, 6; Lamar and Saulsbury, 5; Randolph, 4; Ransom and Shields, 1; and Morton and Sharon, 0. It will be seen by the above that more than one fourth of all the bills were introduced by seven Senator, while two Senators introduced none and two othersbut one each.

It will be seen from the above that our own Senator, Ransom, showed his sound sense by only introducing one bill in the last Congress. Senator Ransom is one of the most useful members of the Senate, he don't make any spread-eagle speeches, and but very few of any kind, puts on no airs, but works all the time for the good of his state. And when he does speak, either in the Senate or before any committee, what he says is heard and respected.

The Boston Globe is thoroughly dough-face Bourbon, and it says it thinks that General Grant cannot carry a single northern state. If it has any confidence in such a declaration, and is as thrifty as the average New Englander in the way of money making, we can, we think, put it in the way of turning an honest peany one way or the other. We are authorized to offer it a wager of $100 on each northern state, if General Grant is the candidate in 1880, that he will carry each in that contest. We are not favorable of betting on elections, but we have a friend who has some idle capital and some confidence in General Grant's popularity, and to sweeten such a wager he will add to the above proposition another of $100 that Grant will carry all the must be met. IN MEMORIAM.

We publish below resolutions passed by the Board of Aldermen of the city: Inasmuch as the Corporation of the City of Wilmington has been, by the hand of death, recently deprived of the services of one of its important officers, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen desire to place upon record their testi-monial of his valuable services to the City of Wilmington as its Attorney, of his genial disposition as a friend, of his sterling qualities as a man, of his ability and integrity as a lawyer, of his intrepid courage as a soldier, and of his public spirit as a citizen.

Col. WILLIAM STEWART DE.

VANE was born in the county of New Hanover, March 24th, 1828. Adopting the profession of the law, he was a stu-dent under the late Chief Justice Pearson for two years, at Richmond Hill, in the county of Yadkin, and was admitted to practice at the Bar in the year 1853. He immediately entered upon the practice of his profession, and formed a law partnership with Hon. A. A. McKoy, now one of the Superior Court Judges of the state. This law firm continued to enjoy the emoluments and honors of a successful and lucrative practice, until it was dissolved about April, 1863, at which time Col. Devane entered into the service of the Confeds erate States Government. His intrepidity, his faithfulness, his fidelity, in fact his entire record at once honorable and brilliant during four weary years of war, is a part of the history of his native state, North Carolina.

In 1866 Col. Devane took up his residence in Wilmington, where he spent the remainder of his life engaged in the practice of the law in section of the law in section. the practice of the law in partnership with his brother, Major D. J. Devane. In the year 1868, when political strife was at its highest, he was chosen by his party as its standard bearer in the contest for the honorable position of Judge of the Superior Court of the Third Judicial District, having as his opponent the Hon. D. L. Russell, who was the Republican nominee for the same position.

This is but an imperfect outline of of the services which Col. Devane has rendered to the state of North Carolina and to the people of the south. His intrepid courage both as a soldier and a citizen, his charming social qualities, his generous heart, were attributes that endeared him to all with whom he came in contact; and we, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Wilmington, appreciating his services to the corporation, feel that we are paying but a faint tribute to the memory in thus placing the above upon record; we

Resolved, That we tender to the family of the deceased our heartfelt sympathy in their sad bereavement. Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be transmitted to the family of the deceased, and also to the city papers for publication.

L. H. BOWDEN; Chairman Committee.

Of the many very excellent traits in Col. Devane's character, we desire to mention one: He was always the first to congratulate his competitor. In 1868 when he ran against Dan. L. Russell for Judge of the Third Judicial District of N. C., politics run very high; so much so that it was dangerous for Republicans to canvass some parts of this District. Throughout the whole canvass Col. Devane treated his competitor as a friend, and after the election he was one of the first to congratulate Judge Russell on his election, and during the balance of Col. Devane's life he was a very strong friend to Judge Russell., He was a true gentleman in every sense of the word.

Anthony Howe, Esq., one of our ablest and most respected colored citizens, was being tried for some offence in the Criminal Court in this city on Wednesday last, and he had summoned six or eight of the oldest white citizens of the city to prove his general character, which they established to the satisfaction of the court and jury. When one of the witnesses was put on the stand, he was asked if he knew the character of Anthony Howe? He said, he did. He was requested by counsel to state what it was. "Well," he said, "while Anthony was a slave he knew nothing in him to con-dem, but since he had been free, he knew nothing in him to commend." But this man, who was so anxious to condemn Mr. Howe for submitting to the Emmancipation Proclamation of Mr. Lincoln, was made to admit, by Mr. Darby, the defendant's counsel that the character of Justice Howe, for honesty, truthfullness, and sobriety was exceedingly good. That old bundle of hate needed a raking, just such as he got from Mr. Darby.

The editor of the Star must have a very chort memory indeed. Read what it says about Serator Bayard and the Democratic party:

"It is a good sign for the country when Democrats are honest enough to treat questions upon their merits and not upon their political bearings. We have already stated that the weight of authority appears to be against the admission of Mr. Bell, of New Hampshire. Senator Bayard takes another view of this matter. It is said that other Democratic Senators agree with him. So the vote on the Democratic side will be divided, and not partisan. Republicans always go for party. A contrast."

Now, above this article, in the same column, it says, speaking of Senator Carpoenter, a stalwart Republican from Wisconsin:

The resolutions further declare that the determination of the Democrats to rule or starve the government is another exhibition of rebellion, and that duty to the country demands that the President shall resist by every constitutional means this spirit of lawlessness. Also, that the name and fame of Grant are inseparably linked with the most important events in the country's higtory, and it is our pleasure thus to declare our admiration and esteem for him, our gratitude to and our confidence in him.

As a young man he entered Hamilton College, but remained only a year, finishing his collegiate course at Yale. From this institution he was graduated, having been a member of what has since become known as "the famous class of 1853." While at college he evinced unusual ability, standing at the head of his class, and during the last year carrying away the first prizes for scholarship and oratory. On leaving the seclusion of a plan in Mississippi to stifle the voice Yale he went abroad, and saw much of of the people, and to destroy the purity social and diplomatic life as an attache to American Legation at St. Petersburg. Here he laid the foundation of his prestates, and the result is seen by the sent library. The connection of Mr. White with the educational institutions of which for many years he has been the head appears to have grown out of his election to the state Senate for the district of Syrecuse in the autumn of 1864. Here he met the late Ezra Cornell, who ance between them grew out of Senator White's interest in educational matters and Senator Cornell's desire to found a collegiate institution where, to use his own words, "any person can find instruction in any study." Mr. White had introduced the bill which codified the school laws, and that which created the the new system of Normal Schools. His advocacy of these measures led Mr. Cornell to disclose to him his plan for a liberal institution of learning, and in 1865 Mr. White introduced the bill which incorporated Cornell University, In 1866 he was choson first President of the University, and soon afterward he visited Europe to study modern ed ucational methods, and to purchase for it books and apparatus. After its founder, the University has been indebted to no one so much as to President White, who, to a very large degree, has formed and directed its system and character. From his own private fortune he has constantly given to it books, objects of art, and sums of money. The A number of representative colored men of Boston held a meeting last night handsome residence for the President of the University, on the University grounds, was built by him. The Supreme Court of Massachusetts

tion. It has actually put down a clerk of a fashionable hotel, one of the mos, formidible creatures the young Republic has to contend with-a modish monster unknown and incomprehensible to foreign lands. It probably required the Supreme Court to achieve this most desirable end. No ordinary court could have managed it. The tacts are as follows: The clerk, a Bostonian, in addition to the well selected assortment of odious traits belonging to his guild, was at times insufferably familiar. Only with men of prominence and positiont however. He probably thought he remedied this failing by treating ordinary persons with a degree of haughtiness and lofty insolence which chilled them to the marrow, and made it seem a royal favor if they were allowed to sleep under the sky light or in a coal cellar. This freezing reserve melted at once when such personages as Charles Francis Adams, Robert C. Winthrop, Ralph Waldo Emerson, or Wendell Phillips wrote their names on the register. He usually shook hands with them cordially, asked them very impertinent questions, and when they asked for the key to their rooms addressed them as Charles, Bob, Ralph, to the court of Berlin, made vacant by and Wen. It is even asserted that he slapped Adams on the shoulder one lor, is one that appears to give univer- day as he was going to breakfast, and sal satisfaction. It is greatly to the inquired, "Well, how do you feel this morning, old cock?" Just what the venerable gentleman did is not recorded; but it is declared that he looked asmen should be selected whose eminent tounded and aghast-very much as he might have looked had he been invited to dance the can can in an opera bouffe. Southern Pyrotechnics.

The Okolona (Miss.) Southern States has treated the country to another pyrotechnic display, consisting of rockets, mines, wheels, and serpents, as follows:

Our Yankee enemies are sharp-witted enough to see that the States speaks what the southern people feel and believe, and they are alarmed at the situation; but they may just as well reconcile themselves to the inevitable, for this Republic has passed into the possession of the old Democracy, who propose to hold the fort.

As a sample of the cases sometimes dealt with by Messrs. Lewis, we may mention one which came within their ken some 25 years ago. A young Guardsman, of highly aristacratic con-nections, was charged with a most serious offence. The family Tulkinghorn at once saw that Lewis & Lewis were under the circumstances, the only loop-hole of escape. The young man appeared before Sir Thomas Henry, then chief magistrate, under an assumed name. and Mr. George Lewis begged that the magistrate would deat summarily with the case. "If you talk all night, Mr. Lewis," said the magistrate, "it will the prisoner for trial at the Central Criminal Court." He was accordingly committed. But when the case came on not a witness was forthcoming. Messrs. Lewis's fee was $5,250. The record-book of their office would, if published, convulse society. Mr. Tulkinghorn knew a thing or two, but they know hundreds.

Patriotism and Capital.

The more obtuse of the Democratic organs are now contending that the late sale of forty-nine millions of dollars of 4 per cents in a single day is attributable to the pending assaults of the Democracy upon the Constitution, the laws, and the rights of citizenship, for the reason that such assaults tend to strengthen the government and its institutions in the confidence of capital. Such reasoning and such conclusions are unbecoming any man who has intelligence enough to hit the ground with his hat. It is the conception of incarnate stupidity. The patriotism of the people, coupled with the timidity of capital, have no doubt led to the late heavy investment in bonds at a low rate of interest. Capitalists see the tendency of the present Democratic war upon the integrity of the government, the laws of protection, and the rights of citizenship, toward direct and certain revolution. They scent the dangers that impend over the Constitution and the laws, and they are prompted to render aid to the government under that patriotic impulse which during the rebel ion, when the national life hung in the balance, brought forth individual aid under the impression that unless the national life was saved there was nothing worth living for in the American Republic. It was the danger of the hour that prompted individual aid to the government then, and the same sense of insidious peril leads the patriotic now to intrench the National Treasury. A determination to sustain the government in the midst of the assaults now being made upon it by menaced starvation, and by those, too, who sought to shoot it to death eighteen years ago. has led heavy capitalists to promptly and efficiently fortify the National Exchequer with material aid and confidence by taking largely of its lowest priced bonds. Then, again, the revolutionary policy of Congress has weakened, if it has not crushed out the strugg. ling hope of a revival of business, until the existing perils which destroy concouragement to all private enterprises, shall have passed.

If it is, or was, not right for the United States to hang the rebels against its flag, the state of Virginia was guilty of downright assassination in hanging John Brown, It should be remembered in this connection, however, that the Democrats in the House as represented by Mr. Chalmers, dragged this John Brown feature into the pending discussion. LIFE IN A BOTTLE. The Most Valuable Medical Discovery Known to the World—No More Use For Quinine, Calomel or Mineral Poisons-Life for the Blood, Strength For the Nerves, and Health for All.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC,
Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution was the only true way of banishing disease and being troubled with weakness of the lungs, catarrh, very much broken down in constitution, ac,, and after trying the best phy sicians and paying out my money for many kinds of medicines advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began dectoring myself, using medicines made from roots and herbs. I fortunately discovered a wonderful Bitters or Blood Cleanser, the first bottle of which gave me new life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight. Feeling confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Root Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused from humors or scrofula in the blood, Imprudence, Bad Stomach, Weakness, Kidney Disease, Torpid Liver, &c., &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine far and wide and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the Root Bitters in large quantities, and I now devote all my time to this business.

I was at first backward in presenting either myself or discovery in this way to the public, not being a patent medicine man and with small capital, but I am getting bravely over that. Since I first advertised this medicine I have been crowded with orders from druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I nave received from persons cured, prove the fact that no remedy ever did so much success as the Root Bitters. In fact, I am convinced that they will soon take the lead of all other medicines in use. Nearly one hundred retail druggists, right here at home in Cleveland, now se AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC,

Non have already sold over one thousand bettles.

Root Bitters are strictly a medicinal preparation, such as was used in the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or plant, and when calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown.

They act strongly on the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels regular and build up the nervous saystem. They penetrate neys, keep the bowers regular and that up the nervous saystem. They penetrate every part of the body, searching out every nerve, bone and tissue from the head to the feet cleansing and strengthening the foutain springs of life, hence they must reach all diseases by purification and No matter what your feelings or symp toms are, what the disease or ailments is, use Root Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use the Bitters at once. It may save my Root bitters as fast as possible within the reach of all those suffering throughout the world. Sold by wholesale and retail druggists and country merchants, or sent by express on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles $5.00.—For certificates of wonderful cures, see my large circular around each bottle of medicine. Read and judge for yourself.

THE SUN FOR 1879.

The Sun will be printed every day during the year to to come. Its purpose and method will will be the same as in the past: To present all the news in a readable shape and to tell truth though the heavens fail. The Sun has been, is, and will continue to be independent of everybody and everything save the Truth and and its own convictions of duty. That is the only policy weich an honest newspaper nee i have. That is the policy which has won for this newspaper the confidence and filendship of a wider constituency than was ever enjoyed by any otter American Journal.

The Sun is the newspaper for the people. It is not for the rich man against the poor man, or for the poor man against the rich man, but it seeks to do equal justice to ell interests in the community. It is not the organ of any person, class, sect or party. There need be no mystery about its loves and hates. It is for the honest man against the dishonest Republican, and for the honest Republican as against the dishonest Democrat. Whitcaker's Ride

John Lycurgus Whiteaker, member of Congress from Oregon, elected to serve in the House which has just convened, is what is known on the Pacific slope as a "fresh-water Democrat." Not that John Lycurgus is addicted to the use of water of any kind; no politician on the Pacific slope absorbs water while whisky preserves its normal condition of fiery cheapness. But John Lycurgus Whiteaker is a freshwater Democrat in the sense of being a stranger to salt water until seen on the shores of the Pacific Ocean. Born and raised in Missouri, Arkansas, or some other state remote from the eastern seaboard, John Lycurgus Whiteaker pursued the even paths of agricultural life in Oregon, until the Democratic party, and his country, summoned him from his plow. Large of frame, hughes thighed, flabby, and good-natured, John Lycurgus chewed tobacco, secreted his share of corn-juice, raised white headed children, and pursued the even tenor of his way until elected to Congress. And when, in the privacy of his Oregonian home, he read in the weekly paper that he was actually elected to Congress, honest John Wniteaker threw his otter skin cap on the floor, and said: "Well, I'm danged!"

To the well-informed Pacific coaster, the Oregonian is known as "a web-foot" The dampness of the Oregon climate, and the chronic conidition of inunda, tion prevailing in the state seem to smoked or smoke colored glasses are make it necessary that the acclimated useful; and, in order to avoid the lateral citizen should be web-footed, like a water fowl. John Lycurgus Weiteaker a webloot," if not web-footed. His views of statesmanship are primitive. J. W. Nesmith, another fresh water Democrat, who was never east of the Mississippi river until he went to Washington as Senator, was a good type of the race. Asked by the grandiloquent Sumner how he was impressed by the surroundings and piny woods of Oregon to the giltis like a fevered dream.

Elected to Congress, and hugging ninself with the idea that he was a statesman, John Lycurgus Whiteaker fondly lingered in the bosom of his family. Eleven white-headed, not to say white-acred, babes claimed him as pregenitor and protector. Slumbering loath to plunge into the cares of excuse what he reckons mistakes statesmanship, John Lycargus was others. rudely awakened, one night, by a telegram from Portland, informing him that he must hie him away to Washington, where his vote was needed to assure a Democratic majority in the organization of the House. Tearing himself from the embraces of his numerous progeny, and supplying himself with tresh rations of tobacco and the fluid of the Willamet region, the illustrious statesman turned his large face eastward, with reluctant and slouching gait. The Democrats of the House warned him that he must not tarry. Yet, failing to realize the stringency of the exigency, John Lycurgus took his leisurely way to San Francisco by sea. He had never been to sea. He would go to sea if it took hi'a all the summer.

John Lycurgus Whiteaker bitterly repented him. His anguish was unutterable. He was deadly sick-and, in the agony of internal convulsions, he was ready to throw up his certificate and retire to the privacy of the piny woods and the eleven white headed children. More dead than alive, and fairly turned inside out, the Oregon stateman finally arrived at San Francisco. Here, he thought, he might rest, see the improvements which had been made since '49, change his linen, and get a "square meal." But, as the collapsed, sickened and depleted statesman ventured over the ship's side, he was met by an emmissary of the Deme cratic party, who told him that a special train waited for him, and that he must go east at once. In vain the unsophisticated and sea worn traveler pleaded: A special train, costing $1500 at the very least had been engaged for him by the National Democratic party, and, yielding up his individual being, he went. Disheviled, unshorn, and unfed, the unhappy statesman was in the expressive language of the region, "fired into" the waiting train, and whirled eastward over the Sierras .-Vainly at the several way stations he pleaded for a hot meal and a chance to slake his thirst. Like Frankenstein's monster, he must go on. Fed with canned goods, deprived of natural warmth and nourishment, this unhappy man was shot over the Snowy Range, across the gray wastes of the alkali plains, through the chasms of the Rocky Mountains, a miserable, unkempt, shaken and sleepless Democrat, for whom a doubtful majority in the House waited and longed. Rudely torn from the become of his family the torn from the hosom of his family, the bucolic Oregonian thought of his eleven white headed babes, and cursed the day when he had assumed the cares of statesmanship. The regular train was 500 miles ahead of him, and after that the iron horse, dragging the battered John Lycurgus, tore with satanic speed. The supremacy of the Democratic party in the House was at stake. Why should he not fly on the wings of the wind, sustaining nature, meantime, on canned goods and corn juice? Past the Aztec cities of tradition, past the Giant's Stairway and the Devil, Sate, past the flowing Platte and the rippling Cottonwood, past the smiling villages of Iowa, past the snow c'ad prairies of Illinois, and past the frowning ridges of the Alleghanies, the way worn statesman hurried. At every station, telegrams, hot with electric speed and frantic with vehement urging, dropped in upon him, until he tore his hair, and cried: "Am I, or am I not, the savior of my country?" But on Tuesday, March 18, when the House was called to order by Clerk Adams, a pale, worn, tattered, and dust covered figure tottered into the House of Representatives. Its eyes were sunken, and its limbs reminded pitying beholders of the belated champions of the late walking match. It was gaunt and unshaven, and a strong flavor of canned provisions was exhaled from its person. "I am John Lycurgus Whiteaker, of Oregon," he whispered. He voted for Randall for Speaker. The country was safe, Everything went on just as though he had not spanned the continent in five days, five hours and eleven min-utes.—N. Y. Times.

Near Sightedness and far Sighted-

Presbyopia, or what is commonly known as far sightedness, is found to supervene earlier with those who are constantly at work than with other individuals, and, as soon as it does, convex glasses should at once be reserted to, without which the muscles of accommodation would be fatigued to no purpose; at first, they should be used for working in the evening, after the fatigue of the day; but a long sighted person should only use spectacles for looking at near objects, not at far ones. Work requiring close application favors the development of myopia, or near sightedness, precisely in proportion as the conditions of illumination are bad; and, if the action of those causes continues, the myopia must increase until vision is lost. If the eyes are fatigued by bad artificial illumination, blue or lightly rays, they should be large and round. In case of persistent irritation, all work should be abandoned, and an examination made to see if there be any disturbance or refraction etc.

Not so Easy.

The papers, in these times of general economy, are filled with very learned essays on the ease with which a considerable family may support itself on ten dollars a week. TRIED,

People are getting acquainted-and those who are not ought to be-with the wonderful merits of that great American Remedy, the

MEXICAN Mustang Liniment,

FOR MAN AND BEAST.

This liniment very naturally originated in America, where Rature provides in her laboratory such surprising antidotes for the maladies of her children. Its fame has been spreading for 35 years, until now it encircles the habitable globe. The Mexican Mustang Liniment is a matchles emedy for all external allments of man and beast.

To stock owners and farmers it is invaluable.

A single bottle often saves a human life or restores the usefulness of an excellent horse, ox, cow, or sheep. It cures foot-rot, hoof-ail, hollow horn, grub screw-worm, shoulder-rot, mange, the bites and stings of poisonous reptiles and insects, and every such drawback to stock breeding and bush life. It cures every external trouble of horses, such as lameness, scratches, swinny, sprains, founder, wind-gall, ring-bone, etc., etc.

The Mexican Mustang Liniment is the quickest cure in the world for accidents occurring in the family, in the absence of a physician, such as , sprains, cuts, et tism, and stiffness engendered by exposure. Particularly valuable to Miners. It is the cheapest remedy in the world, for it penetrates the muscle to the bone, and a single application is generally sufficient to cure.

Mexican Mustang Liniment is put up in three sizes of bottles, the larger ones being proportion stely much the cheapest. Sold everywhere. february 1 ly R

"Don't Put in the Paper.

"For heaven's sake! don't let it get into the papers," is the first cry of a person caught in a mean scrape. Keep it out of the papers and it is all right. No matter how contemptible or dishonest the position may be, or how much reason the offender may have for shame, remorse and contrition, if the circumstances can be kept from the "cormorants of the press," as the peo-ple who have good reason to be afraid of newspaper reporters sometimes call them, he is tranquil and happy. We are no champion for that extreme license of the press that is sometimes displayed, but we have noticed that the ones who cry out the loudest against newspaper disclosures are generally those whose own lives and acts would not bear inspection. People who live clean, straightforward lives have little to fear from the newspapers .- Cincinnati Saturday Night.

In glancing over last Sunday's paper we regretted to notice the tacit acknowledgment from some of our brother grocers that we had taken away part of their trade, and we had taken away part of their trade, and making an appeal to the others not to leave them. We regret this exceedingly, especially as they were so kind and considerate about our coming to grief, but suppose, as we have determined to do the

The OLD CAPE FEAR is flourishing and MARTELLE swimming.

We have been over and smoked that "Cigar of Peace." (a fine Havana it was), but still think it would be bad policy to stop furnishing the papers with our fine literary productions, as they have the tendency to keep prices very low, which we, of course with all other good grocers, desire; only want enough left to pay for clerk's hire store rent and taxes.

NOT PURITANICAL.

Although opposed to the drinking of Liquors, P. L. BRIDGERS & CO., are not puritanical enough to refuse to sell them, as they think no FIRST CLASS GROCERY STORE can afford to be without; but they promise the ladies that they would never find out there was any on the premises, as it must be taken elsewhere to be drunk.
